Names of Old Citizens of Smethport in 1878; A Few of the Leaders

Here you are, old timers—you who know much and have forgotten much of the history of Smethport and McKean county, and here you are also some folks who have heard the old timers talk and wondered at things having to do with the far-distant past.

In the year of 1878 Smethport was a much younger borough than now, years younger, to be exact, but animated by a purpose to revive old time memories. The Miner turns back the hands of the clock to the days of November 14, 1878, and sees you.

Do you remember H. F. Barbour, who was editor of The McKean County Miner in 1878? And do you remember his paper—an eight-column folio of neat appearance, with a poem or two and three or more columns of selected miscellany as first page features?

Glancing over a copy of that old-time sheet of the date noted above, we find many, many familiar names of men and women who were prominent in local affairs, a few of whom we shall endeavor to mention. To begin with, there was the law firm of Hamlin & Son, Byron D. and Dewain R.; the law firm of Sterrett, Brow & Rose, with offices in Smethport, Bradford and Eldred; the legal firm of Backus & Goston, with offices in the Sartwell block; and last but by no means least of Smethport's barristers in those days, P. Ford, offices Miner block, Church street.

So much for the local lawyers of the long ago. Turning to the list of physicians in 1878, we find that Smethport possessed three live wires in the persons of S. D. Freeman, M. D., Dr. H. L. McCoy, who is still in active practice, and Dr. A. C. Brown, with offices over the postoffice. Doctor McCoy's office in those days was located in his residence, Main and Byron streets.

S. J. Gifford, contractor and builder, issued an invitation to bridge building bids and an advertisement is reported to have been among the leading contractors of northwestern Pennsylvania in those days. The immediately following we pick up the card of the hotels, notably the Bennett house, Wm. Haskell, proprietor, located opposite court house, and the Wright house, D. F. Wright, proprietor, located in Main street.

In a rather extensive advertisement J. C. Hamlin announces a complete line of hardware, stoves, ranges, cutlery, agricultural tools, etc., while E. T. Cutler, located in the brick store in Main street, announces a new drug store and a full line of everything a druggist is supposed to keep. Other advertisements in the same column are: William Specht, furniture, Mechanic street; Robert Walters, furniture; Alfred Sturdevant, barber, rear of Armstrong's drug store; W. S. Brownell, dry goods and groceries; Haskill & Gifford, dry goods and groceries; W. D. Gallup, Central Cash store; M. L. Armstrong, jeweler; Gifford & Walters, planing mill; Ford R. Knapp, livery stable; Carl Sasse, painter and decorator; M. H. Picard, bakery; Mary Tracy, Millinery; James McNulty, merchant tailor; Godden & McClure, hard and soft coal.

While some of the above named citizens still abide with us, the many have gone to their reward. Who of them do you remember?

Turning to the news columns we find that Mr. H. J. Doolittle and Miss Rosa Dennis were united in marriage by Rev. J. C. Whiteside at West Eldred; that "Rev. Wagner will officiate at the M. E. church next Sunday;" that Bradford will soon be granted a city charter; that in the northern oil field there were 174 wells completed in October; that Olean will have a daily paper soon.

Smethport had two railroads in 1878—the McKean & Buffalo railway and the Kendall & Eldred railway. An omnibus line to and from the depots and other points, conducted by E. Vickery, appears to have been a profitable venture.

Sprague's hardware store, Armstrong's drug store and J. Digel's marble factory are set forth in large display ads on the fourth page. And thus we close one day in Smethport, in the year of Our Lord 1878.

Old Timers Reveal Fine Form in Base Ball Game Sunday

Ever true to a comrade in distress and with a display of real sportsmanship, old base ball players traveled for miles last Sunday to Smethport in order to become active participants in the benefit ball game in behalf of Will Fuller, local man and one-time professional. It did not require any appeal to evoke a response from those noble souls. The mere announcement on the part of Mr. Michael Keifer that a little help might put "Bill" on the road to health, was sufficient.

The responses made were more than enough to fill the line-up, but the boys who didn't play were happy in the thought that they had shown their colors. But when the line-up was effected and the old-timers appeared in the field, all in fine fettle, the youngsters composing the Smethport aggregation knew that they were to meet men well worthy of their steel. And play! Who said the old fellows had forgotten the game? True, some shifting about was done during the first few innings in order to determine what positions were best suited to the old boys; but, from the beginning it was evident that the two teams were evenly matched and when the final score stood 8 to 8 in Smethport's favor, it proved that the "old luck" had not forgotten the game.

The line-up of the old-timers follows: Croisant, p; Tull, c; McFall, p; Jersey Lemon, c; Keifer, 1b; Studholm, 1b; Gilhooley, 2b; Daniels, ss; Tull, 3b; Pat Donahue, lf; Sebastian cf; McFall, rf.

It was a big crowd that witnessed the game and the sum of $207 was netted which will prove of material assistance to Mr. Fuller in his battle for health. The boys of the regular team also are to be commended for their zeal in behalf of an old player, for truly it was one of those acts which compel the belief that the heart of humanity beasts aright.

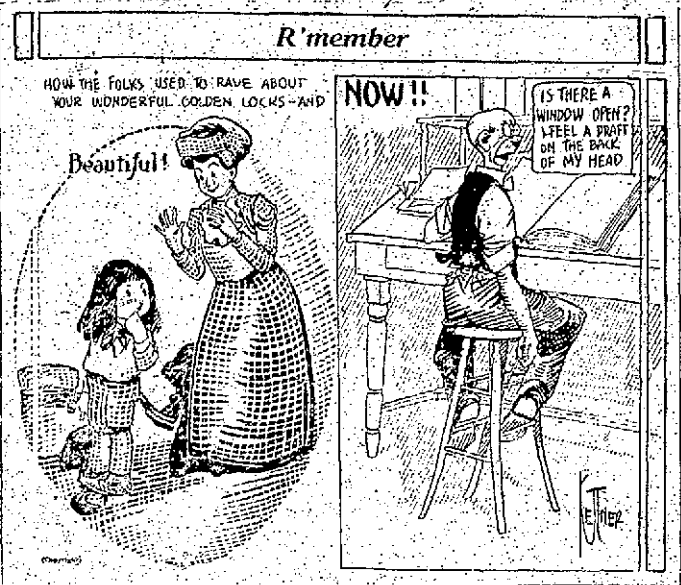

BOROUGH MANAGER GETS WORD THAT CITY ELECTRIC MATERIALS ARE ON WAY

Borough Manager Backus Wednesday received word from the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company that shipment of all materials necessary to the completion of the ornamental electric lighting system for Smethport had been made from the company plant at South Bend, Ind., Friday, July 7, Manager Backus is looking for its arrival within the next few days, at which time, he says the entire force at his command will be directed to the work of installation and putting the streets in order.

A mistake in the types in last week's edition of The Miner placed the responsibility for delay in shipment of materials upon the Keystone company, whereas the Westinghouse company came in for the criticism.

BIG HUCKLE BERRY CROP.

Before long the huckleberry season will begin in this county. From there should be a great plenty of these berries this summer. Last year the huckleberry crop was not large and the berries brought fancy prices. The huckleberry situation in all likelihood will be favored by the fact that all fruits are to be in abundance this year, according to the reports.—Potter Enterprise.

EMPORIUM THREATENED BY RIOT WHEN NEGROES TAKE WHITE MEN'S JOBS

Danger of a riot in Emporium is imminent, according to word received in Smethport at the noon hour Wednesday, due to the importation of negro strikers to take the places of the shop men on strike against the Pennsylvania railroad. The report states that 12 negroes were brought into Emporium at noon Tuesday and were housed in a coach and box car. It also is stated that some 30 or 40 more are scheduled to arrive Tuesday. Some 40 shopmen are on strike at Emporium.

White men armed with guns are reported guarding the railway shops. Despite the precautions of the railway, however, it is said that the strikers succeeded in winning away two white strike-breakers Monday and escorting them out of town.

The entire population of Emporium is reported infuriated over the importation of strikebreakers and bloodshed is feared.

It is said that when the negroes were quartered in the coach and box car their first act was to demand new mattresses, that they refused to sleep on the old mattresses given them.

BIG RAILWAY STRIKE FAILS OF EFFECT IN SMETHPORT

With the exception of embarrassments due to delays of trains, on the big trunk lines, the railways of Smethport and vicinity have not suffered from the big strike on the part of maintenance of way men, shop workers and clerks. While none of the local workmen has joined in the strike, there is, nevertheless, a feeling of apprehension that if the strike continues it may spread to and include all branch lines and "feeders" for the main lines. Smethport, however, has no shop workers, but a small-sized army of maintenance of way men are employed by the various roads, and the belief prevails that if they make response when called the local lines will suffer serious embarrassment.

Wednesday the general strike situation appeared to be the biggest problem that has confronted the government in years. All efforts of the administration to devise means of settlement have proved abortive to date. The latest move, however, contemplates the employment of troops in guarding mail trains and the placing of soldiers at critical points to obviate outbreaks.

DEATH CALLS S. J. SWANSON BLOOMSTER HOLLOW CITIZEN

S. J. Swanson, aged 72 years, a well known and highly respected citizen of McKean county, passed away at his late home, in Bloomster Hollow, Monday evening at 8 o'clock, following an illness primarily due to infirmities.

His wife and six children—three daughters and three sons survive. They are: Carl Swanson of the home, Vernon of Marvindale, Elmer of Hazelhurst; Mrs. Ellen Johnson of Marvindale, Mrs. Ida Anderson of Cambridge Springs, and Mrs. Anna Nelson of Jamestown, N. Y.

Mr. Swanson came from Sweden to America in 1880. He first settled in Clermont, where after a residence of a few years, he removed to Bloomster Hollow. Four sons preceded him in death.

Mr. Swanson was a consistent member of the Swedish Mission church, of Smethport, and was widely known for his many kind deeds of mind and heart. Ever a welcome visitor to Smethport, the news of his passing will bring sorrow to many hearts.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Swanson home, Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. Mr. Ohlson officiating. Interment in Kasson cemetery.

EPISCOPALIANS PUT OVER FINEST PICNIC OF SEASON

The grand picnic given by the Episcopalian Sunday schools of Smethport and East Smethport, Tuesday afternoon at Galco park, was grand in every sense the term implies. In fact it proved the most successful outing of the summer season. It seems as if every member's son and daughter and numerous friends of the members were there. The big crowd assembled at the park some time before the noon hour, and when the "table" was spread on a stretch of grassy lawn, full 200 men, women and children did ample justice to the feast of good things. A feature of the feast was the presence of numerous bands, and from the way they participated it was evident that they brought their appetites along.

The afternoon was devoted to athletic contests, such as running races, pole vaulting, swimming contests, tugs-of-war, etc., for which suitable prizes were awarded. The various Guilds of the two churches were exceptionally well represented.

OFF TO REFORMATORY.

Farmer Slicker Plies Trade Along Roads In 'Diamond Rings'

Old Game Played in States of West Shifts to Northwestern Pennsylvania---Victims So Easily Taken in That They Fail to Divulge Information---Warning to Autoists

The farmers 'slicker' is abroad in McKean county. Having played his game in many other counties of many other states, it seems as if he has concluded to try out Northwestern Pennsylvania for a season.

If you should happen to meet up with a farmer-looking quantity clad in overalls and wearing a straw hat, on any of the roads, don't let him sell you a "14-karat diamond ring," a ruse he is said to have worked with much success on a number of motorists along the Bradford, Mt. Jewett and Ormsby roads, with a distance of from five to ten miles of Smethport.

With all the ease and characteristic innocence of the professional crook, this "killer of the soil", whose introductory name is as changeable as his victims are numerous, has been plying his trade, and unsuspecting autoists who have not heard of his game nor how it has worked on a number of unsuspecting McKean county people and tourists, fall for it, only to learn later that the apparently "valuable" ring purchased at a "bargain" is phoney, made of glass, and worth probably a quarter at the most.

The practice has been continued without interruption and no doubt with success to the "worker," because in each case the victim has been so foolish over having fallen for the trick that he has been slow in telling his friends or the press, with the result that the "operator" goes right along taking in easy money.

The story ends, however, when a man whose business it is to traverse the country roads to a considerable extent, reated his experience while on his way from Bradford to Smithport recently.

While driving toward Smethport near the Burdick farm, six miles north of town, the young man was about to pass a plodding "farmer," wearing regular blue overalls, colored shirt and wide-brimmed straw hat, when the man hailed him, and stating that he was going to Smethport to secure some machine repairs, asked if he might ride.

On the way over to Smethport, the "farmer" told of his big crop of hay, talked learnedly concerning late fruit crop prspects and gave out a lot of farm information generally. He stated that his place was some distance "back" of the Burdick farm, and invited the young man to visit him some day.

When the machine arrived in East Smethport, the "farmer" asked to be let out, and after returning thanks for the ride, offered to pay for it, a tender which, of course, was refused. But just as the driver was in the act of bidding the "farmer" good-bye, the latter stuck his hand into his overalls pocket and drew out a beautiful "diamond ring," showed it to the driver and explained how he had picked it up along the roadside just before he had gotten into the machine. He said he had planned to take the ring to a local jewelry store, but just then remembered that the stores were closed for the Wednesday half-holiday. He then offered to turn over the ring to the driver for $2, and the latter, thinking he was getting a valuable piece of jewelry for that small sum, gave the "farmer" the money and drove away, congratulating himself on his "bargain."

The next morning, however, the driver is said to have taken the ring to a Bradford jeweler only to learn that it was phoney and that he had been fleeced by his "friend."

But it appears that the driver in question is not the only victim of the "phoney farmer," for it is reported that at least half a dozen others, including at least one Smethport citizen, have fallen for the trick. Not all have refused to divulge the particulars, fearful lest they be placed in a somewhat awkward, if not laughable position. It is said, however, that the others gave up much larger sums for the rings than did the hero of our story.

The trick, however, is an old one. It was worked quite successfully throughout Indiana, West Virginia and Ohio last summer, but it seems that the people of those states have caught on to such an extent as to compel the operators to move to more promising fields.

INSPIRED BY HEADLINE, POET THRUMS HIS LYRE A LA UNCLE WALT MASON.

Inspired by the headline, "Smethport Realizes Great Building Boom," which appeared in The Miner last week, "Gene Byles," one of McKean County's sweetest singers, started thrumming his faithful lyre, a la Walt Mason, and, broadcasting his luy by means of envelope and two-cent stamp, it reached The Miner office and percolated through the circumambient atmosphere in the following happy fashion:

Smethport has a building boom, expected to provide much room, for many families who are coming here to live. Their presence will be welcomed here, we'll give them real old-fashioned cheer, we'll try to make their realize we have the best in store. And once they're set-ol in this place to run their well-appointed race, they'll find that our town is a-buzz that's up and doing, they'll have their chance to make good here, they need not distrust on fear, if they are wholesome honest folk, good men, clean and pure. But the guy who thinks he'll easy live and nothing do or nothing give, had better keep on traveling, we want him not at all. He only holds the good folks back, and usually he's awful slack, and always he possesses unmitigated gall. Those folks who try and folks who work are much preferred to those who shirk, and better yet we like the guy who always gets things done; we've a place for that rare boy and we can fill his soul with joy and incidentally show him how to make a lot of moo. So welcome here, old scout, if you are one of those who puts things through; our banks and stores are with you, they'll give you no insults, and worth while folks will bow to you, there's just one thing that you must do: convince the men who back you up, that you can show results.

LOCAL FIRM AWARDED CONTRACT TO PAVE WEST MAIN AND MECHANIC STS.

At a special meeting of the council last Thursday evening the contracts for the paving of Mechanic and West Main streets was awarded to the W. C. Guncheon Co., of Smethport at their bid of $15,031.40. Work upon the improvement will begin just as soon as the material arrives.

Council rejected the bid of the Taratella company of Bradford, primarily because of lack of funds nd secondarily because it was at variance with Engineer Lorah's estimate. In awarding the bid council followed Engineer Lorah's suggestion to employ limestone instead of gravel in the construction of a base. This action is in conformity with the specifications of the state highway commission.

About 2000 of those in attendance are women school teachers, most of them from Pennsylvania. Of the 600 men, about half are regular four-year students, including 100 war veterans sent here to be rehabilitated by the government.

TRYING TO HALT CLERKS' STRIKE

Rail Labor Board Confers With Head of Employes

WILL START SHOPS OPERATING

Many Carriers Are Urging Striking Employes to Return to Work—Vacancies in Ranks Will Be Filled by Hiring New Men—Week Is Fraught With Great Possibilities.

With soldiers on duty in Illinois and troops mobilized in five other states the strike of railway shopmen remains quiet, while many railroads prepare to resume active operations of their shops, several carriers having warned striking employes to return immediately or forfeit seniority rights.

L. M. Jewett, head of the railway employes' department of the American Federation of Labor, has nothing to say at strike headquarters in Chicago and no news was forthcoming from either the carriers or the United States railroad labor board.

Would Jail Clerks' Strike

While the Sunday lull may be unessential, the rest of the week is fraught with possibilities. Members of the labor board, who averted a strike of 400,000 maintenance of way men and 14,000 signal men through negotiations with union officials last week, are expected to confer with E. H. Fitzgerald, head of the clerks union, in an effort to prevent the issuance of strike orders to this organization. Concern was expressed in Chicago quarters close to the labor board that the clerks would follow the example set by the maintenance of way employes and signalmen.

Vacancies Will Be Filled.

With the carriers urging striking employes to return to work at once, preparations were practically complete on a score of lines to attempt to resume active shop work. Vacancies in the ranks, according to the railroads, will be filled by the hiring of new men. Realizing the possibilities for trouble with such a program some of the railroads have asked for soldiers to protect their shops, while others expected to afford private protection to those who worked.

While the railroads predicted that many strikers would flock back to work when assured that protection would be afforded, union headquarters in Chicago have maintained that the strike is daily becoming more effective.

TO DEPORT PETERSON

German Stowaway Says He Knows About Rathenau Plot

Max Peterson, German stowaway, who was arrested by department of justice agents on June 30, after he was alleged to have admitted that he "knew all about" the assassination of Dr. Walter Rathenau, German minister of foreign affairs, has been ordered deported as "a stowaway who is likely to become a public charge," Ellis Island authorities announced in New York.

Peterson has filed an appeal with the department of labor, however, and his deportation is held up pending a decision from Washington.

At the time of his arrest, Peterson told the authorities he didn't care what they did with him, so long as they did not send him back to Germany.

Peterson, it is said, has steadfastly refused to give names or details concerning the plot against Rathenau, despite his ready admission that he "knew all about it."

Bus Line for Love Lottery Parties

A human lottery in which every man holding a ticket draws a female companion has been launched by a motor bus concern in London, which is arranging outings called general post socials. At an appointed hour a motor bus containing 12 women passengers proceeds to a certain spot on the outskirts of London. A few minutes later another motor bus carrying a dozen men passengers arrives. The passengers then take seats, each man with the woman holding a ticket with a number corresponding to his own. The coaches then proceed to a secret destination in a forest where there are picnics, dancing and other amusements.

Expect Huge Cabbage Crop

LEADER OF "REDS" IN MEXICO TAKEN.

Three Are Killed In Fight Before Arrest Is Made.

Heron Proal, a Communist agitator and organizer of the so-called Red Syndicate, was arrested in Vera Cruz after a fight during which a policeman and two members of Proal's organization were killed. A policeman and five federal soldiers and 18 members of Proal's band, including three women, were wounded.

At night a disturbance occurred in which a former chief of the Red Syndicate was killed and an army lieutenant and two others wounded.

The chief of the local garrison procured a warrant for the arrest of Proal, but when he attempted to serve it Proal and his bodyguard put up a fight in which a policeman was killed and another wounded. The police retired and secured reinforcements in the form of a detachment of federal soldiers. The latter opened fire on the members of the syndicate and the latter surrendered.

A search of the premises revealed a store of arms, knives and ammunition. Fifty arrests were made.

Appellate Court Decides Movie Commission Has the Right

The New York state motion picture commission has the right to pass judgment on news reels of current events, according to a decision handed down by the appellate division of the supreme court in Albany.

The question was brought to the court by the Pathe Film exchange for the purpose of determining the right of the motion picture commission to censor and license news films as other films are inspected. All judges of the court concurred in the decision.

The incident that brought out the controversy was the showing of a girl in scanty beach attire on the Atlantic City bathing beach. The commission insisted the picture was immoral and should be deleted. The decision upholds their contention.

Court Frees Young Husband

William Stickler, of Los Angeles, aged 19 whose wife and baby were sick, got a day's work and a check for $4 in payment. He put a zero after the "4" and spent the $40 on his family, after cashing it. Stickler admitted everything to Judge Reeve of the superior court and the public defender told how a few days later Stickler's wife died and how Stickler, at her grave with his four months' old baby in his arms, had been arrested, handcuffed and taken to jail.

Then the public defender asked probation for Stickler.

"Probation!" thundered the court. "Why, the case is dismissed."

Erie Railway to Float Big Loan

The Erie railroad has been authorized by the interstate commerce commission to assume liability and guarantee payment of an issue of $4,500,000 in equipment trust certificates. The securities will be sold to raise funds for new freight cars.

Germans May Default on Reparations

The collapse of the German mark is accompanied by reports that Germany will be unable to meet her July reparations payment, due on 15th. The plight of the European exchanges in general calls for some gloomy comments.

POLITICIANS TAKE FLING AT NAMING OFFICEHOLDERS UNDER GOVERNOR PINCHOT

Pennsylvania politicians are putting in the time making selections for Gifford Pinchot, Republican gubernatorial nominee. A brief summary of their accomplishments to date follows:

W. W. Roper, Harrisburg councilman, chairman of the workmen's compensation board.

J. Denny O'Neill, McKeesport, state highway commissioner.

For attorney general, either John S. Fisher, ex-banking commissioner, or Joseph H. Taulane, ex-assistant district attorney of Harrisburg.

An interesting discussion has arisen at Harrisburg concerning the financing of the senatorial campaigns. Some leaders hold that while in accordance with the demand of Mr. Pinchot, no political assessments will be levied for financing the state ticket, there can be no objection to collecting from officeholders for the senatorial candidates. To date, however, no real financial plans appear to have been evolved.

INCREASED WHEAT YIELD FROM PENNSYLVANIA 44

Seed Developed at State College Averages Five Bushels More Per Acre.

An increase of 50,000 bushels of wheat this summer on 10,000 acres in Pennsylvania is expected to result from the painting of the wheat seed "Pennsylvania 44" developed at the Pennsylvania State College several years ago by Prof. C. F. Noll. In 1913, the college, dis- of this new strain over standard varieties has been five bushels per acre, and it is estimated that if the more than a million acres of soil sown with wheat in this state were sown entirely with Pennsylvania 44, the increase of value in the state's wheat crop would exceed $5,000,000.

Pennsylvania 44 is a selection of Fulcaster originating from a single head selected on one of the college farms in 1909. It came as the result of over 1200 selections made under the direction of Professor Noll. In 1918, the college, distributed 14 bushels of this seed; in 1919, 10 bushels; and in 1920, 671 bushels. In the fall of 1921, 2,500 bushels of college Pennsylvania 44 seed were sown, and it is this crop that is now being harvested.

VICTORY CERTAIN.

This will be another Republican year. Not only has every senitorial and congressional vacancy been filled by the election of a Republican, but such primaries as have been held have shown a great preponderance of Republicans in the voting.

This does not mean that everybody is pleased. True, there is some complaint over taxes, but four-fifths of the national budget is a permanent charge, for which the present administration is not responsible. There have been delays in readjustment and congress has been somewhat dilatory, but this has been due to the persistent of the two houses. The inevitable after-war reaction was stived off by an uncertain policy, but it had to come, as it has come after all great wars.

Such problems as must be settled will require treatment by men who will not be afraid of losing votes to the point of misrepresenting the best interests of the whole people. The Republican party now sees the necessity of filling the gaps with men of ability, and thus continued confidence will be assured.

The people, however, realize that the turning point of the war has passed and that America is on the high road to old-time prosperity. Thus the next two years will be years of peace and plenty, and thus the Republican party platform pledges will be redeemed.

Protection means home production, and home production means more employment for Americans. You cannot buy foreign goods without giving employment to the foreign workmen. We have just enacted a restrictive immigration law to keep out the cheap labor of Europe and Asia. Now we need a restrictive importation law to keep out the product of the cheap labor. America first.

The miners and railroaders are trying to agree on a joint strike action, which, they claim, "will dislocate the transportation system and affect the industrial fabric." In other words, about a million and a half men propose to starve and freeze the rest of us our, and there are over a hundred million of the rest of us.

In the present disturbed state of Europe it looks as though the "calming voice of the League of Nations," so eloquently referred to by ex-Secretary of War Baker in a commencement address, was in great need of an amplifier.

Mr. Taft told England frankly that America was not gaited for the League of Nations. The consideration due to a host debarred him from saying that it had not yet been shown that any other nation was gaited for that League.

If it is true that Maine is a political barometer, those who are praying for a split in the Republican ranks are up against an awful job.

Mi'ady Asquith says the trouble with this country is too much money. We prove it by the way we spend it on foreign lecturers.

America believes in hands across the sea; but her trouble is that Europe's interest in limited to hand-outs across the sea.

New York Times: It was fortunate that the United States didn't accept a mandate for Armenia. Our own massacres will keep us more than busy.

If the Southerners who are protecting against th passage of a federal anti-lynching law want to stop the enactment, let them put an end to lynching.

Los Angeles Times: Down South they are endorsing Woodrow Wilson and former Governor Cox as the leader of the Democrat party. But just how they manage to mix this oil and water the news does not explain.

British propagandists tell us we are in danger because we are a creditor nation. Strange they never thought of the danger when Britain was the creditor.

It's reported that American tourists in Europe are being squeezed for the last nickle. Serves 'em right for neglecting the tourist opportunities in America.

If it is true that Dempsey has been offered $490,000 to fight in France, perhaps they just want to see if he can. No offer reported thus far to Edsel Ford.

The Harding administration know 47 different ways of keeping out of trouble in Europe.

The British lecturers in America have few American converts to their credit.

BIG INDUSTRIAL PARADE AT PORT ALLEGANY WAS THE FINEST IN HISTORY.

The industrial parade, which was one of the closing features of the American Legion county convention at Port Allegany, was one of the greatest in Port Allegany's history. First prize for the best industrial float was taken by Walter Hall, builder and contractor, and second prize was taken by Glenn Gallup, proprietor of the Gallup furniture store.

The number of floats in the parade was so great, and their merits so nearly equal, that the judges had a hard time in reaching their decision. The float of the First National bank would have taken first place had it not been barred by the judges, who declared it non-industrial. Other attractive floats were those of the Port Allegany Milling company, Andy Anderson, contractor; Doyle, the blacksmith; the Farmers Feed Stores; the D. A. R., the Daughters of Rebecca and the Fetterley Drug company.

A number of decorated automobiles were also in the contest. First prize in this feature was taken by the car of the Women's Christian Temperance union.

JUST RAKED OUT THE FISH

Truthful Old Gentleman Recalls to Mind a Catch That Was Really Worth While.

"It was just such a day as this," said the old fisherman. "There was a warm drizzly rain falling, with a light wind from the south, a most favorable day to fish. It was down on the south fork along in the late Nineties that I made the big catch."

"How many did you get?" I asked, as I moved my chair closer, so as not to miss any of the story.

"Well, it was no use to try to count them," said the old fisherman, as he relitted his pipe. "I was raking hay down on a big meadow near the river, when a big school of salmon trout came up, so I just drove back and forth across the river and raked them out. You could see piles of fish for miles on both sides of the river."

"That sure must have been some big school of fish," I remarked.

"Well, that was the most fish I ever seen," he said as he tilted back in his chair and crossed his legs. "They had to put in new ways under all the bridges on the river; those fish had worn them out when they rubbed their backs going up the river."

"Were there any very big ones?" I asked.

"Well, yes," declared the old man. "Some of the farmers along the river used the backbones of the largest ones to stake their beans on."

"I suppose the ribs formed a ladder to gather the beans with," I said.

"Yes, that's right," said the old man as he hobbled down the hill.—Washington Star.

FIRST TO CROSS CONTINENT

Sir Alexander Mackenzie Made Adventurous Trip With a White Party in 1792-1793.

The first white man to cross this continent by a route north of Mexico was Sir Alexander Mackenzie, a Scotsman, who rose high in the service of the old North West company, which was amalgamated with the Hudson's Bay company in 1821. Mackenzie was in the Far West, when he planned his trip across country to the Pacific coast. In the autumn of 1792 he led his party far up the Peace river, where they built a post and wintered. On May 9, 1793, the party set out, passing up the Peace river, through the Rocky mountains, across to the Fraser river, which was followed down stream for some distance, and then across country through an unexplored region, until the party came out on the Pacific coast. Mixing a quantity of vermilion with melted grease, Mackenzie wrote on the inland side of a high rock rising from the shore these words to mark his visit: "Alexander Mackenzie, just from Canada by land, the twenty-second of July, One thousand seven hundred and ninety three. Lat. 52 degrees, 20 minutes, 48 seconds north." Mackenzie then retraced his course and returned to the East.

Conservation of the Birds.

Entirely apart from the economic are the ethical and esthetic phases of the question. Does not good citizenship demand that all possible measure be taken to conserve, perpetuate and increase all the beautiful and useful creatures of the earth? The fauna no less than the flora of a country are among its great treasures to be cherished and protected for the generations to come as well as for the delight and enjoyment of those of the present. In any country as more persons turn back to nature for recreation and entertainment, the appreciation of natural resources increases and a kindlier spirit is manifested toward the birds. This quickened interest in all phases of bird life finds expression in organized effort to promote their well being as well as in the individual effort to attract and cherish through kindliness these delightful ornaments of park and lawn.—Exchange.

Pathetic Picture of Author.

In the first chapter of Edmund Gosse's "Impressions" he recalls a strange pair in a victoria he often met in the course of his walks from the northwest of London toward Whitehall in and after 1876. The man, prematurely aging, was hirsute, rugged and satyrlike. That was George Henry Lewes. The woman was a large, thick-set sybil, whose massive features, dreamy and immobile, somewhat grim when seen in profile, were incongruous, bordered by a hat always in the height of the Paris fashion, which in those days commonly included an immense ostrich feather. That was George Eliot. The contrast between the solemnity of the face and the frivolity of the headgear had something pathetic and provincial about it.

Invented Railroad Tickets.

Thomas Edmondson, an Englishman, deserves our thanks. It is not very amusing to stand in a queue at the railway depot waiting for your ticket, but your wait would be far longer had not Edmondson invented the ticket printing machine.

Previous to this invention a paper ticket had to be filled up by hand for each passenger; in still earlier times the name and address of every traveler was entered in a book. What a slow process it must have been!

It is pleasant to be able to record that, unlike some other inventors, Edmondson profited fairly well by his discovery. For a license to use his patent he charged yearly $2 per mile of railway. Thus he did not, as people say, "do badly."

SMETHPORT IS CALLED ON TO BOOST HIGHWAY BUFFALO TO PITTSBURGH.

DuBois Business Men Visit Surrounding Towns in Interest of Great Project.

Starting out early Thursday morning several automobiles left DuBois, going both north and south as far as Bradford and Indiana, visiting all towns and cities enroute stirring up interest in regard to the proposed improvement of the Buffalo-Pittsburgh trail. This is a notable north and south highway in Pennsylvania and the utmost endeavor will be made to secure its improvement as soon as state funds are available.

Two automobile loads left in each direction, and at all towns visited well known workers for good roads were invited to attend a dinner to be held in DuBois at noon Friday, July 14, at which time plans will be gone over in regard to the proposed improvement and to secure support of its construction.

The first stop was at Falls Creek, then come Brockwayville, Ridgway, Johnsonburg, Wilcox, Kane, Mt. Jewett, Smethport, Mt. Alton, Lafayette, Custer City and Bradford.

Citizens of DuBois, realizing the great importance of this highway, are taking the lead in organizing a movement to forward the enterprise, and they believe when the matter is adequately presented to the other towns and cities, they, too will become enthused over the project.

One of the north-bound parties consisted of J. R. Osborn, president of the Osborn Machine company; Clyde Hatten, contractor; E. W. Gray of the DuBois Courier; M. I. McCreight, president Deposit National bank; A. H. Broadbent of the Broadbent Martin company; A. P. Way, manager Avenue theater; J. S. Reitz & Corbett, and B. E. Taylor president of the Bank of Brockwayville.

These gentlemen are all earnest and influential boosters and are giving their best efforts to the project in hand and hope to see delegations from all towns visited at the dinner in DuBois on July 14.

The party was divided in Kane, some proceeding to Smethport, and Mt. Jewett and some to Bradford.

McKEAN COUNTY RANKS HIGH IN USE OF "GAS."

Between 1500 and 2000 gasoline dealers, some of whom plead ignorance, are charged by treasury department officials at Harrisburg to have made no return of gasoline tax to the state under the provision of the tax act of 1 cent a gallon which became effective September 1, last year, and investigators employed by the treasury department have begun a crusade to round up the delinquent dealer, some of whom pled ignorance of the law, although it is believed many of them are purposely evading the law.

Returns made to the treasury department by the auditor general's department for May show that the tax that month amounted to $210,244.54, just triple the amount collected in January, and brings the total "gas" collected since September 1 to $1,570,066.01, half of which is returned to the counties in which it is collected.

The tax for McKean and nearby counties for the month follows: McKean, $1,490.63, Elk, $833.74, Warren, $718.67, Venango, $1,618.74, and Forest, $125.02.

While the careful housewife usually labels her jellies, jams, canned fruits and vegetables for her own later information, the U. S. department of agriculture suggests that if she intends to sell any of her products she should consult the state food authorities as to the regulations concerning weight or measure and ingredients and the proper labels to be used.

CONSCIENCE TROUBLES AFTER SIXTEEN YEARS.

After a stretch of sixteen years, the mystery of a text-book that disappeared from the desk of Prof T. L. Mairs of the Pennsylvania State college agricultural school in 1906, was solved recently. A letter received from a former student, confessing to the taking of the book because he lacked the funds to purchase one, and enclosed a check for $2.60 covering the cost of the book with compound interest at six per cent for sixteen years. A troublesome conscience finally became too insistent, and the owner sought relief by making reparation in the only way that he could. This is the first conscience fund contributed at Penn State.

. . DAY DREAMS . .

I started out awhile ago to do a little job,
A task that only could be done by working with my knob,
I settled down quite cozily into an easy chair,
Then stroked my classic brow awhile and rumpled up my hair,
A sheet of paper pure and white I spread upon my knee,
Then took my pencil from my ear expecting soon to see
Upon that spotless, helpless page, appearing line by line
Like soldiers marching on parade, some brilliant thoughts of mine.
But ere my pencil marred the page a bird went flashing by,
"Oh, gee, "I muttered to myself," it must be great to fly!
And if I could like eagle strong, into the air take wing,
I'd lift my head up to the sky, and sing, and sing, and sing!
And, as I sailed, and swooped and soared, thus voiling all my joy
I wonder what the other birds would think of such a noise!
The lakes and streams spread out below would be a charming sight;
By golly, if I had a boat I bet the bass would bite!
I'd soon rig up my spinner hook and fasten on some pork,
And cast into the lily-pads—Oh, boy, I know 'twould work!
And when I landed fish enough to last a week or more,
I'd curl up on the mossy bank and go to sleep and snore;
Just shut my eyes and breath a sigh and presently I'd stand
Within the mystic borders of a queer and uncertain land,
Yet, would I be in that strange land, its shadows to explore,
Or in that helpless body lying sleeping on the shore?
Why does that little chipmunk have his back with stripes bedecked?
And when he scurries down the log, why is his tail erect?
Perhaps he sees a thousand things forbidden you and me!
I wonder if he ever dreams when sleeping in his tree?
I wonder when this lake was formed—a thousand years ago?
That breeze shakes the popular leaves, what is it makes it go?
Some day a city may rise with factories and mills;
How many Indian feet have gone a-padding down these trails?
Say, isn't this a grand old pine! I wonder just how tall!
He surely looks as though he were daddy of them all!
Some day when all our family is gathered in the cave,
I'll show the gang this camping place and watch the fellows rave!
Boy Scouting is such bully fun with with all its nature lore,
It's funny some one didn't think of doing it before!"
While there I sat star-gazing, with no thought of line or rhyme,
That little bird I saw, before flashed by a second time,
I rubbed my eyes, and stretched a bit, and sat up in my chair,
Then looked down at my paper and I found this scribbling there.

The skyscraper, the efficient factory, the modern home and farm would be impossible as we find them today—without concrete.

The concrete structure safeguards money invested, safeguards life, and safeguards the property or stock it contains. Through the last quarter century, used on all types of building, Atlas Portland Cement has come to be generally known as "the Standard by which all other makes are measured."
